Local Briefs

It's dog tag days in Romulus

If you're a Romulus resident and own a dog, it's time to purchase or renew its license, cautions City Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz.

Residents may purchase dog licenses on Feb. 4 through Feb. 25, and also have their pet inoculated for a nominal fee at the Department of Public Works garage, located across the street from the Post Office at Shook and Bibbins.

The clinic will be opened from 1 to 4 p.m. during week days. There is a March 1 deadline to purchase the dog tags and obtain necessary shots.

Senior citizens with pets will pay half-price for the license. After March 1, dog owners without the proper license and shots will face penalties.

St. Al's readies for Catholic Week

St. Aloysius Elementary School will take part in a variety of programs during Catholic School Week, scheduled for Jan. 29 through Feb. 4. School principal Sister Shirley Ann invites residents to participate in the events.

The program will include "Black & Gold Day" on Jan. 30 when students will wear clothes of the school colors; a girls' basketball game at 6 p.m. with the local team hosting St. Cyril's at 6 p.m. at Romulus South Junior High. Other programs include: Annual balloon launch (11 a.m., Feb. 1), Puppet Show by the "Kids on the Block" (Feb. 2); Open House from 7 to 8:30 p.m. (Feb. 3) which will include Awards' Day.

For further information, telephone Karen Shonta at St. Aloysius School (941-3340).

Boat safety tips are offered

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department Marine Division will conduct boater safety courses from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Feb. 6 at Romulus Junior High School.

For further information, please contact Jerry Boyne at 224-2232.

Grim reminder

The fire-charred home of 80-year-old James Martin stood as a grim reminder that death may have been prevented if the owner had installed a smoke detector, according to fire officials. Martin died early Friday morning after fire swept his dwelling at 6845 Wayne Road. State and local fire officials are investigating the cause of the fire which claimed this city's first victim of the year.

Fire claims man's life

A pre-dawn fire Friday claimed the life of an 80-year-old Romulus resident who resided alone in his two story dwelling on Wayne Road, Romulus fire officials said.

The victim, James Martin, of 5845 Wayne Road, died shortly after arrival in the emergency room at Wayne County General Hospital where he was transported by a crew from the Taylor Ambulance Services.

Martin's body was discovered in a hallway between the kitchen and dining room of his home by Romulus fire fighters, Romulus Fire Inspector Charles Bradley said.

"Mr. Martin lived alone," Bradley said, "and a brother lives next door. We got this call about 6:15 a.m. and our firefighters managed to get into the house where they found the victim on the floor."

"We still don't know what the cause of the fire is," Bradley concluded, "we've called in the State Fire Marshal to investigate."

Inspector Bradley said that Martin slept in the living room, although there were two bedrooms in the house.

"There was no smoke detector in the building. If there had been, the story may have been different. It's unfortunate. If residents would install one (smoke detector) they could possibly save someone's life."

Bradley estimated the damage to the building at $10,000. He said that the death was the first of the year caused by fire in Romulus.

Business names 'Person of the Year'

Recognition Night is scheduled for Feb. 18

Jason Lovette, who has devoted two decades of his life to make Romulus a better place to live, has been named as the 1984 recipient of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce's Business Person of the Year award.

"I'm very happy and proud to be the recipient of this prestigious honor," said Lovette who has had several distinguished careers.

After a rigorous selection process conducted by the Romulus Chamber of Commerce — Business Person of the Year Committee, Lovette's outstanding qualities and credentials made him stand out in a field of several other worthy candidates.

Lovette has been a resident of Romulus for approximately 20 years and resides at 35748 Bibbins. He has been married to Ethel for 41 years, a retired Romulus school teacher. They have three grown children, Phyllis, Jason, Jr., and Kary.

Lovette was born in Sylvania, Georgia November 26, 1911, where he received his early education and then received a B.S. degree in education from Savana State.

Later, after retiring from the army, he received his masters in biology from Eastern Michigan University. He also did advance work in Bio Chemistry at University of Northern Iowa. He has had several distinguished careers.

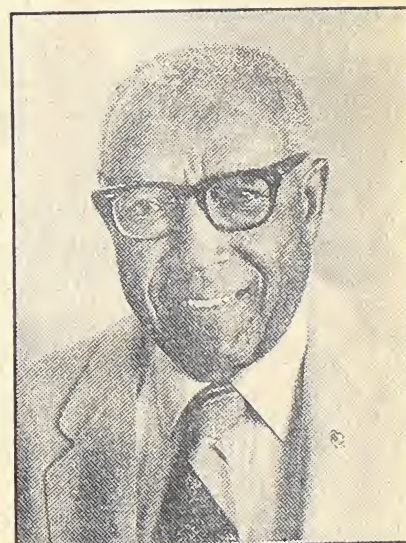

First, he served for 20 years in the U.S. Army and retired as a Colonel. After his honorable discharge in 1961, he became principal and then Superintendent of the Ecorse School District from which he also retired.

For a supposedly retired person, Lovette still keeps very busy, and is and has been involved in many other extracurricular activities including member and president of the Romulus School Board from 1972-73.

Further, he is a member of the Grace United Methodist Church of Detroit on which he served as Chairman of the Trustee Board. He is very actively involved in the Romulus Rotary Club of

For robbery, sexual assault

3 men bound over for trial

Three men, arrested last week on charges of armed robbery, were bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court after a hearing held last Wednesday in 34th District Court.

The defendants — Tommy L. Martin, 47, of 19793 Littlefield, Detroit, Larry King, 33, of 13808 Littlefield, also of Detroit, and Verlyer Clark, 28, of Romulus are accused of breaking into a home in Romulus and robbing the residents.

Martin and King will also face charges of criminal sexual conduct first degree in the rape of the victim's wife.

The three men were arrested after a high speed auto chase which involved the victim and Romulus police officers who took the defendants into custody on I-94 and Merriman Road.

Judge Henry Zabrowski set bond at $50,000 each, and the three men were returned to the Wayne County Jail to await their hearing scheduled for February 2 in Circuit Court.

In an unrelated case, a Romulus woman entered a plea of guilty at the beginning of her trial for second degree murder in the beating death of her two-year-old daughter.

Elaine Maxine Paul, 21, of 6055 Washington, entered the plea before Wayne County Circuit Judge Theodore Bohn on Tuesday, January 17. Ms. Paul was arrested on April 5, 1983, five days after her daughter, Alysia, was admitted to Ann Arbor Hospital. Alysia had no heartbeat upon arrival and hospital personnel noticed bruises and lacerations

Congratulations

Carrier of Week Stan Heuschkel

Stan Heuschkel is thinking about becoming a stockbroker...but then again, he notes, that could change. What won't change about his occupation, present or future, is the 14-year old's determination to do a good job at whatever he chooses.

Stan has been selected by Associated Newspapers as Carrier of the Week, based on his performance in delivering the Belleville Enterprise to the more than 49 customers on his route. He has had his "job" for about two years, and says he enjoys the route.

"It's right in my neighborhood, and it takes about two hours in the winter and about an hour in the summer — in the winter I have to walk and in the summer I can ride my bike, that's why it goes faster," he said.

Stan is a student at Belleville North Junior High School and his favorite subject right now in general business. In his leisure time he enjoys playing Dungeons and Dragons, music and "television — I don't know any teenagers who don't like TV."

He is looking forward to college, although he hasn't any particular school in mind and is saving his route money for the possible purchase of a moped.

His advice to other carriers — "Just do your job and get your collections in on time — that's what I really try to do."

Stan is the son of Bill and Glo Heuschkel of Lilac Lane in Belleville.

Help your business: Hire a veteran

Employers can be paid up to $10,000 if they train and hire an unemployed Korean Conflict or Vietnam Era veteran.

The Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act of 1983 (Public Law 98-77) provides for the VA to reimburse employers 50 percent of a veterans' starting wage up to a maximum of $10,000 for each veteran.

A $500,000 project Belleville studies new sewer line

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Downtown Belleville's long discussed sewer separation project is again getting close scrutiny by city council members who now worry about pressures put on the system by the upcoming senior housing project on West Columbia.

Though the city engineer warns that the old sewer is "unreliable and structurally unsound," city officials say they face the same obstacle that has prevented them from proceeding with the project years ago — money.

"The gist of it is that we need this project," said City Council man Robert Tentalo Monday. "The gist is also that we have never been able to afford it."

But city officials acknowledge that the time may come for them to look more closely at various approaches to funding — or getting funds for — what City Manager Frank Pascarella estimated would be at least a half million project.

At Monday night's work/study meeting, City Engineer Ken Arnold was scheduled to appear before the board to review half a dozen funding propositions.

One possibility, described by Pascarella, was to assess property owners 50 percent of the costs, with 25 percent funded through the city's water fund, and 25 percent by the city at large. There are two other formulas to this proposal, he said.

Another alternative would assess area users 75 percent of the expense, with the water fund making up the difference.

City officials have tried unsuccessfully to get grant money for the separation project. Last fall, the Environmental Development Agency rejected a 3.5 million proposal that would have funded the sewer work as well as other city improvement projects.

"The Department of Natural Resources told us this was a much needed project, but that they couldn't afford to help us," Tentalo said.

As described by Arnold, the project would replace the current combined sewer system which collects both waste products from area homes and storm drain discharge. Under the proposal, the city would build a new sanitary sewer and use the existing sewer for storm drainage.

The sewer lines extend from Columbia and Five Points to about a mile and a half down the road to High Street near the High/Main intersection, then circles back to Main where it connects with a Wayne County interceptor.

Ford seeks 'outstanding youth'

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) today announced plans for his annual Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth within the 15th Congressional District.

Originally conducted in 1976 as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the awards program was so well received that the Citizens' Committee (consisting of volunteers from each of the 20 communities within the 15th District) recommended that it be continued as an annual event.

"I believe this is an excellent way to honor some of our truly outstanding young people whose activities and accomplishments too often have gone unnoticed and unrewarded," Congressman Ford said.

Three awards will be available in each of the 20 communities in the 15th District. One will be for youth aged 14 through 18 who are seniors in high school, one for high school graduates aged 18 through 22, and one for youth groups with significant accomplishments. The medals will be personally presented by Congressman Ford on May 6.

Nomination forms are available from Congressman Ford's District Office in the Wayne Post Office Building, Wayne, Michigan 48184 (722-1411). The deadline for nominations is March 25, 1984.

"The committee has decided to keep the same ground rules for the judging criteria which were followed in past years," Congressman Ford explained. To qualify for consideration, the accomplishments of these young people should be outstanding and meaningful, and represent a broad range of interests and activities. Nominees receiving financial payment for their accomplishments are not eligible.

Recognizing that not all people serve as leaders, Congressman Ford added that consideration would also be given to nominees who have contributed time and effort toward meaningful projects, such as volunteer practices, heroic acts and humanitarian efforts.

Elva Ryall of Garden City will chair the Citizens' Committee, and will also represent the City of Garden City.

Others serving on the Committee are:

Early to rise...

Despite the 6:30 a.m. rehearsal, members of the Romulus Junior High Symphonic Band are wide-awake as director Richard Kruse leads them through practice for their performance at the 39th annual Mid-Western Music Educators Conference. That conference was held in Ann Arbor.

Romulus band performs at Music Educators' Conference

The Romulus Junior High School Symphonic Band performed for the 39th annual Midwestern Music Educators Conference held in Ann Arbor. The Symphonic Band performed 12 different selections including 39 minutes of music at its January 20 performance. The conference also celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

"With this being the 50th anniversary celebration, it was an honor to be selected to perform. The sound of the Symphonic Band was just great," according to Band Director Richard Kruse. Hill Auditorium is one of the leading concert halls in the Midwest and most of the world reknown musical groups (New York, Boston, Pennsylvania, Los Angeles, London, etc. Symphony Orchestras) have played there, he added.

After the performance the students went to observe exhibits from the music industry. Displays there included different makes of instruments, (which students could try-out), musical computers, uniform displays, fundraising displays including free samples of pizza, cheese, sausage and various candies, music camps, recording company displays and a memorabilia room with 50 years of pictures from the 50 year history of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

Director Kruse said that he received very favorable comments from everyone who heard the Symphonic Band.

"Other directors wanted to know what we were doing in Romulus and how we are doing it. The word really got around the conference," he said.

Dr. Glenn Hayes, a former Romulus Band student and now assistant Band Director at Bowling Green University, was the guest conductor.

Principal Nick Tottis wished to thank the students for their efforts and the extra practice it required to present such a performance. Dr. William Bedell, Romulus School's Superintendent, attended the program and said that the "sound of the band was very mature" and he also wished to congratulate the students on representing Romulus in such a positive manner at the Conference.

The program has been recorded and records are available at $7 for the entire 12 selections. Anyone who wishes may purchase one by dropping off the $7 at the Romulus Jr. High School and leaving their name, address and phone number.

Director Kruse concluded that "this was the best musical experience I have had in my 18 years at Romulus. Each student was eager to do a good job and worked very hard to accomplish this goal." He also wished to thank the parents of these students for their wonderful support and the extra help accord the Band by the chaperones on the day of the conference.

"The entire community of Romulus can be very proud of these students and be very proud of itself for developing such a group."

The concert included the works: Protocol by Leland Forsblad; Old Dominion March, John Edmundson; Bravada, Jerry Nowak; Ozark Folk Suit, Jared Spears; Variations on an English Folk Song, Claude Smith; The Great Muppet, Capper, Joe Raposo, arranger, Paul Jennings; Great Lakes Overture, Jerry Nowak, American Banter March, Ralph Herman, with Guest Conductor Glenn Hays, former Romulus High Student presently assistant band director at Bowling Green University; Summer in Rio... Claude Smith, Three English Folk Songs, John Edmundson; Saratoga, Jerry Nowak and Boogie Woogie, Clarence Smith, arranger John Warrington.

The symphonic band members included:

Rose Baxter
Baxter named 'Good citizen'

Rose Baxter has been chosen Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen and is sponsored by Quakertown Chapter Daughters of The American Revolution. Senior students are chosen for this distinction on the basis of leadership qualities, dependability, service to the community and patriotism.

Baxter is a member of the National Honor Society, a member of Who's Who in American High Schools and has won awards for Outstanding Business Student and Voice of Democracy. She is co-captain of the junior varsity softball team at Romulus High School and plans to attend the University of Michigan-Dearborn in the fall.

Baxter and her parents were guests at a luncheon hosted by the sponsoring chapter Farmington Hills library recently. Each winner is an automatic contender for the title of Michigan DAR Good Citizen. The person chosen for that award automatically becomes a contender for the National DAR Good Citizen title.

Commissioners OK Wayne County hospital ordinance

With members citing need to assure adequate medical facilities for the indigent, the Wayne County Commission has again adopted an ordinance preserving the County General Hospital in Westland, and again is preparing for an expected veto by County Executive William Lucas.

In a near repeat of a similar action months ago, the Commission last week voted 13-2 to maintain the hospital under county jurisdiction. Ten votes, a two-thirds majority of the Commission, is required to override a veto.

Those speaking for the ordinance argued that it provided for the poor and fulfills a charter requirement without violating other provisions of the charter, or closing the options of Lucas.

Commissioner Kay Beard called the charter mandate "the crux of the matter" and was joined by Richard E. Manning who said, "The charter says we will have a public hospital."

Samuel A. Turner said, "This basically stands for accessibility for the poor, that there is at least one place to go regardless of whether you have money or a Blue-Cross card." Turner also said that "an important paragraph" in the ordinance requires the hospital to operate within appropriations, and "that will not change unless the Chief Executive proposes so."

Joseph L. Jurkiewicz added, "Lucas has already had one year to cut costs and make changes other than 'close, sell or lease' but he hasn't brought us any better ideas." Rather than improve the hospital, he wants the easy way out."

Edward J. Plawewski, Jr., an attorney, emphasized that the ordinance does not violate the charter, and is the product of a year of study and development in which the likelihood was carefully avoided.

Also responding to charges of legislative interference with Lucas's executive power, Bernard L. Kilpatrick said, "We are only doing our sworn duty, and if it is considered interference to protect the poor, then I say we should interfere all the more."

The two dissenting votes were cast by Milton Mack and John C. Hertel. Mack said the ordinance "represents the most serious assault so far" on the charter, and Hertel said it was "a giant step backwards" from progress the Commission made last year.

Before adopting the ordinance the Commission also approved an amendment introduced by Mary E. Dumas which added two more members to the hospital Board of Institutions.

upon the child's body and informed the Romulus Police Department. Ms. Paul is being held without bond and will be sentenced January 26.

In another case, a 33-year-old Inkster man, Jesse Howard, faces a preliminary exam Feb. 2, in Wayne County Circuit Court after failing to appear for his scheduled hearing Nov. 16 before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zabrowski.

Howard, who has no listed address, was arrested Nov. 8, 1983 and charged with breaking and entering after he reportedly stole a television set from a Romulus hotel.

Zabrowski approved a bench warrant and Howard was arrested Jan. 6 in Romulus. He posted a $5,000 bond.

Area youth offered job opportunity services

Wayne County Extension seeks candidates

Free employment services are available to local youths and businesses in the area. The Extension Job Training Program at the Cooperative Extension Service still has over 100 openings for 16-21 year-old JTPA-eligible youths at the Extension Center located in the city of Wayne. The program plans to continue enrolling from now until May.

The program offers free training and job placement assistance. Some opportunities exist for work experience at the Center for $3.35 per hour. In addition, employers are offered financial incentives for hiring or giving additional training to program graduates.

Extension Job Training has been very successful in the past, officials said. Last year the professional staff succeeded in placing more than 100 trainees in jobs averaging $3.68 per hour. They expect to exceed that goal this year but need more motivated young people to enroll.

Over the next few weeks the Extension Service will be expanding its services to include a Job Training Referral Center. County residents of all ages will be able to learn about the whole range of free training and placement services available in the area. Those who would like to learn more about the Referral Center are encouraged to call.

The Extension Job Training staff also plans to put together a weekly column of employment seeking advice for local residents to be published in Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman editions of the Associated Newspapers. The staff welcomes ideas and questions so the needs of the unemployed in communities can be best met.

Those who are interested in the free youth training or information about the Referral Center should call the Extension Job Training Program at 721-6578, Monday through Friday from 9 to 4:30 daily. The Extension Center is located at 5454 Venoy Road in Wayne, behind Annapolis Hospital. The program is funded through a grant from the Wayne County Training Administration.

City of Romulus

DOG LICENSE

All dogs in the City of Romulus must be licensed. This is for your benefit. If your family pet ever slips its leash, this policy could keep your child from being heartbroken. Also, if you are bitten, knowing that the dog is licensed and has had rabies shots can save you from worrying about a painful series of inoculations. The law was designed to benefit all City residents, whether or not they own dogs.

A City dog license costs $5.00 for both male and female dogs. Licenses for spayed and neutered dogs cost only $1.50. A lower license fee for these dogs is intended to help control the rise in the canine population. Senior citizens (age 65 or older) pay only $2.50 or $.75 per license. Proof of rabies vaccination must be presented when applying for a new dog license or renewal. March 1st of every year is the deadline for license renewal. A late fee of $1.50, in addition to the regular fee will be charged after that date.

TO LICENSE YOUR DOG

Bring a rabies vaccination certificate and an affidavit or Veterinary Certificate for spayed female or neutered male dogs, as well as proof of your age, if you qualify for the senior citizen discount, to:

Office of the City Treasurer
Romulus Municipal Building
11111 Wayne Road
Romulus, Michigan

between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. - Monday through Friday. A license will be issued to you at that time. The license tag must be worn by the animal at all times, attached by a collar of leather, iron, copper, brass or other durable material. Puppies must be licensed when they reach six months of age.

PENALTIES

Any person not adhering to any of the regulations outlined in this letter will be in violation of the provisions of the City's Animal Control Ordinance.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION:

Please call the Romulus Animal Control Center at 941-0666 Ext. 245, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. For emergencies after hours, call the Romulus Police Department 941-8400. The Animal Control Center will respond to all calls reporting licensed and unlicensed dogs running loose, injured animals, dead animals, dangerous dogs and excessive barking dogs.

Signs of Spring

MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

A guest this past week at the Liberty Street home of Mrs. Stella Cox was a friend from Shelby, Ohio, Mrs. Evelyn Watson. On Tuesday, relatives William & Vivian Creary from Garden City, spent the day with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Riggs from Trenton and the former's aunt, Mrs. Florence Olinger from Dearborn Heights were guests last Wednesday of their aunt, Mrs. Rachel Hamilton of East Huron River Drive.

In celebration of his sixth birthday, J.J. Remus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Remus of Greylock Street, was a recent guest at McDonald's for lunch along with his playmate, Gabriel Ivan, and his sister, Linda.

Word has been received here by friends of Katherine and Cle-tus McCollum, formerly of Hoeft Road, that the latter had under-gone major surgery and is now convalescing at their home in McKenzie, Tenn.

The news this week reads like a hospital report with so many re-sidents in the Belleville area being ill, as follows:

Mrs. Jim (Mary) Bullock of Hull Road is now at home after having undergone surgery recently at Wyandotte General Hospital.

Mrs. Harry (Lulu) Wilde of Hoeft Road was able to return home Tuesday from Annapolis Hospital in Wayne where she had been a surgical patient.

Marie Roberts who has been a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hos-pital for a week returned home on Monday of last week.

Irene Heining, who also was in Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti for a week, was able to return home last Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Mrs. Melvin (Charlotte) Budd another Beyer Hospital medical patient was discharged on Tues-day, Jan. 17.

Grace Burnell underwent eye surgery at Beyer on Tuesday, Jan. 17.

The Pledge Group of Girls en-joyed a day's outing on Saturday, Jan. 14, when they went first to Westland Shopping Center where they viewed the small doll houses; then to Arby's for lunch; on to Plymouth where they vis-ited the museum and toured the downtown park and shopping center to see all the ice sculp-tures. The girls were accompa-nied by their Pledge Mother, De-nise Welt, Roberta and Rose Welt, Edna Florian, June Haw-kins and Brenda Smith.

The January meeting of the Past Matron's Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., was held at Bonanza in the Lake-wood Shopping Center on Thurs-day, the fifth, with Past Matron Kay Parker hostess. Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 13 mem-bers and one guest, June Haw-kins, Worthy Matron.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president Florence McKelvey. Chaplain pro-tem, Mae Fielder in charge of de-votions, read a poem by Edgar Guest, "Make a Man out of Me." The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

The hostess presented a num-bers drawing with Cora Brad-shaw, Elda Bohl, and Edna Flo-rian being the lucky winners.

Past Matron Roberta Pond will be the February hostess.

Each year the National Society Daughters of the American Re-volution holds a Good Citizens contest for outstanding seniors from various high schools. On Sunday, Jan. 8, a "Get Ac-quainted" tea was held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Kellas of Ypsilanti Township to meet with the students and their mothers.

Those being honored by Ypsi-lanti Chapter DAR and attending were Jana Steiger of Belleville High School, Beth Falk of Cal-vary Christian Academy and Lee Wallerstedt of Ypsilanti High School.

Unable to attend were Regina LaForest of Lincoln Consoli-dated High School, Terri Brashear of Willow Run High School and Rick Rautanen of Ruyard High School.

Ypsilanti DAR members on hand to assist the hostess and meet with the guests were Mil-dred Artley and Helen Wilson of Belleville.

On Sunday, Jan. 22, all six stu-dents were honored by the Ypsi-lanti DAR at the Ladies Literary Club in Ypsilanti.

sent system, according to Arnold. "When there's an over-load in the existing sewer, it's re-lieved by directly discharging into Belleville Lake," he said.

In addition, the city is more frequently feeling the effects of a system that Arnold says is "old-er than everybody around." (City officials are unable to pin-point the exact date of construc-tion, though estimates range from 45 to 65 years.)

"As it is now, the sewer is unre-lia-ble and structurally poor," Arnold said. "As to how much more life it's got, I couldn't tell you. But the existing sewer is in very poor shape."

Arnold noted that a mainte-nance check of the sewer line two years ago, through a special TV probe couldn't be completed when the camera couldn't make its way through the line because of cracks.

Tony Talaga, head of the De-partment of Public Works, said that flooded basements and wa-ter back-up was an occasional but not a recent problem. "But if all the snow melts at once, we'd have problems," he said.

In terms of future growth, city officials say they are concerned about the need for an adequate sewer facility. "The senior citizen housing project (to be constructed on West Columbia within the next couple of years) is something we're all thinking about," said Tontalo.

Arnold acknowledged that the 200 unit senior facility would mean "additional pressure on a system that's over-pressured."

Specific proposals for sewer renovation will be voted on at regular council meetings.

Talk of sewer renovation first began about 20 years ago, say city officials.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the Van Buren Township Planning Commis-sion will hold a Public Hearing on the following amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of 3/1/74. Hearing will be held in the Board Room, 46425 Tyler Road, Van Buren Township, County of Wayne, Belleville, Michigan on Wednesday, the 1st day of February 1984, at 7:00 p.m.

AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 3-1-74

A. Add a new subsection to Section 20.763 of the Zoning Ordinance (Per-mitted Uses After Special Approval in a M-2, General Industrial Dis-trict) to read as follows:

"e. Junk yards, subject to compliance with Ordinance No. _____, Township Junk Yard Ordinance, the provisions of all Township codes and ordinances and safety standards of State and County, and the following requirements which are intended to protect the environ-ment, insure pure air and clean ground water and otherwise protect nearby residential, business, office, industrial and institutional uses from hazards and from noise, dust or other radiated disturbances:

1. Where a junk yard is adjacent to residential, business or office zoned properties or has frontage on a road or highway, a solid masonry obscuring wall, at least eight (8) feet in height, of one (1) uniform color and meeting Township Building Code standards, shall be constructed at least fifty (50) feet* from the side and rear lot lines, and along the required front yard setback line (see Item 2 below). Where a junk yard is adjacent to industrial or airport zoned properties, a masonry wall, as described above, or a solid obscuring fence at least eight (8) feet in height shall be constructed on the side and rear property lines adjacent to said industrial or airport zoned property.

*Equivalent to that for buildings in a M-2 District but less than the 200 foot requirement for open storage yards for construction contractor's equip-ment and supplies, etc. under Section 20.763, a, and the 100 foot greenbelt requirement for M-2 uses under Section 20.764.

2. Where a junk yard has frontage on a road or highway, the solid masonry wall shall be set back not less than one hundred fifty (150) feet from said road or highway right-of-way or easement line and a twenty (20) foot greenbelt planting strip, composed of evergreen or deciduous trees and shrubs as described in Section 20.360, shall be planted and maintained outside of said wall, except where entrance and exit driveways are located, in order to screen the junk yard activities from the road or highway.

A sales or office building for keeping business records of the junk yard operation is permitted in the setback area noted above pro-vided that front and side setbacks for buildings in a M-2 District are complied with. (See Section 20.852) For junk yard uses, passenger vehicle parking may also be permitted in the required front yard provided such off-street parking is not located with twenty (20) feet of the front lot line. (See also Footnote w, Section 20.852.) Said twenty (20) foot setback shall be landscaped and bermed pursuant to requirements of Section 20.360, GREENBELTS. Such greenbelt may eliminate all or part of the aforementioned greenbelt planting strip requirement adjacent to the solid masonry wall if in the opinion of the Planning Commission, at time of site plan review, sufficient screening is provided.

3. Junk material shall be stored a minimum distance of twenty (20) feet from any industrial or airport zoned property line. Storage of such materials on any site shall not be piled higher than the height of the eight (8) foot masonry wall or fence. A roadway shall be provided, paved, graded and maintained from the street to the rear of the property to permit free access of fire trucks at any time.
4. There shall be no burning of tires, vehicle bodies, wiring, oil or waste products on the site, and all industrial processes, including the use of equipment for cutting, compressing or packaging shall be conducted within a completely enclosed building.
5. All trucks, and other vehicles shall be stored or parked within the required walled or fenced enclosure.
6. All truck loading and unloading shall be performed within the required walled or fenced enclosure.
7. The operator of the junk yard shall be responsible to clean up all debris and junk accidentally deposited on any public right-of-way within one (1) mile of the junk yard site.
8. There shall be compliance with all industrial performance stan-dards as specified under Section 20.766 as well as site plan review requirements under Section 20.767.

B. Add a new entry under Section 20.481, h (off-street parking require-ments) to read as follows:

"(36) Junk yards

- 1 Each owner or manager, plus one (1) space for each employee, plus one (1) space for customer parking for each one half (½) acre for the first five (5) acres of the property, plus an additional space for each additional five (5) acres or part thereof."

C. Amend Section 20.764, Protective Screening, to add the following sen-tence at end of said Section:

"Screening requirements for junk yards shall be as established under Section 20.763, e."

A seminar for the lonely

Loneliness and di-vice are the topics of news additions to the TEL-MED tape col-lection available for use by Belleville area residents. TEL-MED, located in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, is a free ser-vice providing medic-al information by phone.

Tape CL 32, "How to Deal with Loneli-ness", details various kinds of lonely feel-ings, from minor emptiness to intense deprivation. It de-scribes some loneli-ness as unavoidable, but offers suggestions for taking an active role in handling lone-ly feelings.

Tape CL 81, "Deal-ing with the Realities of Divorce", discus-ses some common practical, as well as emotional, problems created by separation or divorce, for which people in this stress-ful situation may not be prepared.

To listen to these tapes, or to ask for a complete listing of the 270 available tapes, open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. call the TEL-MED Monday through Friday. operator at 668-1551 (Ann Arbor), 434-6120 (Ypsilanti) or 548-2832 (Howell). TEL-MED is funded by the Wash-tenaw United Way.

Van Buren unveils recreation programs

The cold and sub-zero temperatures may have forced many residents indoors, but if they have the will, the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department has the programs waiting for the undaunted.

Registration continues in the Van Buren "Tanglefoot Dance" program and youngsters are urged to register at the township hall. The dancers will take part in a spring review entitled, "Alice in Wonderland".

Last year's review drew a standing-room-only crowd.

There will be two dance sessions for the Tanglefoot group: Tanglefoot Dance Program began its winter season the 18th of January. The dancers are already preparing for the Spring review — "Alice in Wonderland." Last year's review turned out to be a tremendous success!

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble

Bonus package in every chicken you buy is a tasty, nutritious chicken liver. If you haven't enough of them on hand for your favorite dish, freeze the liver (up to 3 months) until you've amassed enough — or pierce one liver with a long-handled fork and flame-broil directly over the stove.

If dough cracks as you work with it, it is either too dry or it was insufficiently mixed. Even a tablespoon or two of water will make a difference.

New baking pan set allows fat to drain from meat loaf or pate while it is cooking. Outer pan can be used for loaf cake, too.

Stuff chicken breasts with Italian sausage that's been crumbled and browned with onions and garlic and flavored with parsley and lots of parmesan and romano cheeses. Super with tomato sauce, pasta, and hearty red wine.

Easiest-ever chocolate dessert starts with a pound of chocolate candy bars. 1 cup of coarsely chopped walnuts, and 2 Tbs. creme de menthe (or your favorite liqueur). Melt over hot water, cool to room temperature, and fold into whipped cream that's made of a quart of cream. Spoon into dishes and refrigerate.

Easiest-ever party dinner: bring your friends to Captain Nemo's.

Flying Solo

DAVID J. WILLETT
Publisher

Several years ago . . . longer than I care to acknowledge, actually, my old friend Jim Brown, then publisher of the Ingham County News in Mason, Mich., imparted some words of wisdom to an impressionable kid. (I told you this was a LONG time ago.) Jim says to me, "Dave," (cause that was my name then, too.) he says, "Dave, don't EVER fall into the trap of writing a weekly column!"

Jim goes on and says, "Dave," (cause he knew me pretty good, see, so he called me Dave again — am I losing you?) "Dave," he says, "you end up living your life in measures from one column to the next. You'll have absolutely nothing to write about and yet you have to fill that space reserved for your column. DON'T DO IT!"

Well Jim was right. I, lo these many years, have avoided the curse. But, alas, I can dissuade myself no longer . . . and you, poor readers, who cannot but wonder what a lowly publisher such as I has, on occasion, burdening his mind (well, such as it is) will now know. What I might venture forth and share in the weeks that come . . . my thoughts, feelings, opinions, ramblings and aggressions may very well be verbalized (okay, so written) here.

Okay, so I'll confess — it was the amazement of people who got to me. Like Sharon Popek for instance. Now for those of you who may not know Sharon, she's an institution around here. She writes the "It's Great to Live in Wayne" column and is a very, very well-known and active lady. And, she's known me for a long, long time.

Sharon commented on my last effort — the now infamous Canton meeting column — She characterized her reaction as "surprise . . . that straight Dave Willett has a sense of humor."

Well, what does Sharon Popek know anyway? Hey, this is a woman who saves her paychecks like Green Stamps and then when she tries to cash them a year later, the bank thinks SHE'S got a great sense of humor. (I'm not picking on you Sharon, only kidding — I learned long ago to never make the editorial department angry).

Okay so what really convinced me to keep writing was my son telling me that last week I was, "funny, but gross." I said " . . . what was gross?" and he said, "Dad," (he calls me that sometimes, especially when he wants to borrow the car or money.) "The B word."

Well, I looked it up and the B word is defined as "Bowels: the digestive tract below the stomach; the interior of anything." I thought maybe I'd write a column and explain the B word to my son, old what's-his-name. (You have to know how to drop names if you are going to write a column — advice from my editorial department.) So, I've explained it.

That's all I'm going to say this week. I'll get better next week. Well, maybe a little better — okay, so I'll probably be worse, but I'm still going to give it a go. I hope you enjoy — and if you don't, read it anyway. Pain is good for you, it builds character. Look how smart it made Jim Brown. He's so smart he sold his newspapers and went to the great columnist reward beyond.

I figure, if I can stay ahead of these deadlines, by oh, maybe a week. . . well, maybe, say four days. . . okay, so like maybe I'll start an hour before deadline, but you can count on me to get these things written. Anyhow, next week Sharon's going to be real surprised again, because I'm going to write something REAL serious, and she'll be so distracted reading my column she'll forget to cash her checks again for a year and the bank will once again think she's funny. And I'll be rich because I still have all her money in my account . . . smooth, huh?

Anyway — I hope I can make the rest of you smile a little and maybe say something relevant once in a while. . . who knows, maybe you could learn something from me. I know I have from you.

Appointments

One year later in Westland

It could be said that "here we go again" in Westland.

It could be said, but if the statements from the mayor and council are any indication, it won't.

Two years ago the mayor and council became mired in a two-month long controversy over the appointment of a city attorney. The appointment is an executive prerogative subject to the council's approval. The mayor appointed; the council said no. The end result set the mood for further confrontations between the city's executive and legislative branches.

This year's scenario is different. The mayor was prepared to appoint, the council ready to reject. However, a "street-wise" Jeffrey Jahr asked that his appointment be withdrawn, apparently to avoid the ensuing battle and admittedly to avoid the constraints the council wanted imposed.

Jahr has been asked to continue as city attorney for three weeks, while the two sides attempt to work out their differences. It appears that the art of compromise is at work in the city.

That, in and of itself, is a giant step forward for the city, although a painful experience for Jahr, who has been caught up in the difference of opinion. The council and mayor have two weeks in which to mediate their differences, and we are confident they will be successful.

We are glad to see the council and mayor communicating and encourage the relationship to continue. It can only improve the quality of politics in the community.

We are sad, though, to see Jahr caught up in the dispute. His participation in the democratic process has not been an easy one and, he deserved better treatment by his allies and foes two years ago. We can understand his decision not to go through the process again and respect him for it.

We hope his successor will not have to face the bitter feud-ing he has had to deal with in the past.

State is receiving fair share of tax dollars

In recent months much has been said about the alarming fact that Michigan appears to be receiving less than its fair share of federal tax dollars returned to the states. It's not a difficult argument to make, considering Michigan receives only 76 cents back for every dollar sent to Washington, and in fact, ranks 47th among all states (including the District of Columbia), according to the Northeast-Midwest Institute.

It is also disturbingly true that Michigan workers have suffered disproportionately from the last recession, not only in terms of numbers unemployed, but also in the duration of unemployment.

Finally, there is a problem which appears shared by all states and certainly is no less a concern in Michigan. Veterans, particularly those veterans of the Vietnam-era and the Korean Conflict, have suffered higher rates of unemployment than non-veterans throughout most of the last two decades.

In August, 1983, recognizing the disparity between non-veteran and veteran unemployment rates, the U.S. Congress passed and President Reagan signed into law the Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act of 1983. This new law provides that the federal government reimburse employers for half of the starting wage for training or retraining veterans of the Korean Conflict or Vietnam-era.

Funding for the new law has been set for $300 million over the next two years. The first installment of $75 million is now available and the individual states are beginning to gear up their programs. The funds are being distributed on a first-come, first-served basis, and the states that respond quickly are the states which will be assured of receiving their fair share. It is my hope that Michigan employers will immediately see the many advantages of participating in the new program and will assure that this state receives its proper share.

ram and will assure that this state receives its proper share.

And the advantages to employers are evident. First and foremost, the Michigan business operator will be hiring a person with a proven track record for loyalty and dedication. The type of military training the new hire received makes little difference in this new legislation, since the federal government intends to defray the cost of training. Whether the veteran served as a platoon leader in a combat zone, or as a supply clerk behind the front lines, that veteran had proven maturity and reliability.

Second, as mentioned earlier, the qualifying employer can receive from the federal government up to 50 percent of the veteran's starting salary during the training program up to a maximum of $10,000 per veteran. In these days of cost analysis and stiff price competition, that is quite a bargain.

Third, by acting quickly, employers can have a positive impact on the problem of unemployed veterans as well as seeing to it that Michigan citizens get a better return on their federal investment.

While I am in no way suggesting that this program alone will cure unemployment or balance the State-Federal ledger for Michigan, it will be a beginning. And for once it would be nice to say that Michigan and its veterans got their fair share.

Veterans' representatives at Michigan Job Service offices are ready to sign up employers for this innovative and long overdue program. As an employer, you need only contact the veterans' representative in the Job Service office nearest you to get the ball rolling.

What you'll find is veterans: ready, willing and profitable.

Good

evil

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

They buried Mike Ferrantino on Monday.

The 55-year-old multi-millionaire who leaves in his wake a host of unanswered questions and earthly possessions such as the Van Buren-based Wayne and Michigan Disposal Landfills was accused and convicted of bribery which was well-publicized in the "Vista Trials" in Detroit.

Ferrantino was said to be one of several who offered bribes to Charles M. Beckman, the former Water & Sewer Director for the City of Detroit.

But Ferrantino's and Vista's world fell apart last month when a federal court heard enough evidence that led a jury to find Ferrantino guilty of bribe conspiracy. Subsequently, two other defendants — Sam Cusenza and Joseph Valentini — pleaded guilty to similar charges.

And, although this case is in the appeals process, no one now knows how the scenario will end.

One thing for sure: Ferrantino has left behind a lot of unanswered questions — and a host of friends.

Letters to the Honorable Robert E. DeMascio who heard the case urge the court to consider Ferrantino's long list of services to the community. One of those letters reads:

" . . . Mr. Ferrantino has always been the first one in line when help was needed for various worthwhile community projects (in Van Buren and Belleville). He has always been very liberal with his financial and in-kind contributions to this community. His style has always been one without fanfare and was not always publicly recognized for his generosity, however, he was always quick to give."

In another letter to Judge DeMascio, the writer states:

" . . . One of the projects which wouldn't have been completed due to an unattainable cost to the township (Van Buren) was the 1973 clean-up fish-kill, and game fish restocking for the township — owned Belleville Lake (the biggest in land lake in Wayne County). This was a joint Michigan D.N.R. and Van Buren project.

"The draining of the lake produced truck loads of debris such as tires, cars, stumps, etc. and of course dead fish. The trash-fish (carp, etc.) produced tons and tons of dead fish. Mr. Ferrantino provided equipment, personnel and burial in his landfill of the debris and stinking dead fish.

" . . . He (Mr. Ferrantino) also negotiated a 25 year lease between the township of Van Buren and the Ford Motor Company for $1 on twenty acres of property to be used for baseball diamonds whose prime use would be for the Little League which had been displaced for their former privately owned ball fields."

The letter(s) goes on and on . . . singling out Ferrantino's contributions to organizations, including the Goodfellows, Wayne County Community College Library Fund and donations to cancer victims. He paid their bills.

Shyly unpolitical, Ferrantino offered the landfill for free to the residents of Van Buren Township for use of dumping trash and garbage.

Township officials are nervous . . . with the death of the landfill owner, will the practice continue or will they be charged to dump their garbage there?

"The pieces of this gigantic puzzle just don't fit," said one of the hundreds who gathered at the funeral. "Mike was a millionaire. He didn't need Vista money. The pieces just don't fit."

Unfortunately, the trial drained Ferrantino physically and emotionally.

Now, as Mark Anthony eloquently said centuries ago over the fallen Caesar: "The evil that men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones . . ."

Taxpayer has a dream

As a taxpayer I am seriously concerned about the state of affairs transpiring in our state government and the attitude of some of our elected legislators. I seek only equal time to respond to the negative charges of character and integrity by these state legislators. I am astounded and incensed by the villifying and venomous definitions of the "taxpayer voter" now being stated by political office-holders who are subject to recall. Is it not nice to know that when you complain about oppressive taxation, you are labeled as being "sleazy," "ignorant," "malcontent" and accused of "doing the work of the Kremlin?" Is it not wonderful to be thought of as such, by our elected political intelligentsia? The next time I say "grace," I will ask for the good deeds our elected officials have had me do — like paying all those taxes. I want also, to "thank" Governor James Blanchard for allowing me voluntarily, to give up 38.5% of my income to avert state bankruptcy so he could increase state spending and allow the legislature a salary increase. Now, wasn't that nice of me? Is it not nice of the Governor to have me "bite the bullet" with the hopes that I will find the means and funds to pay my bills and stay on "pork and beans" as a standard of living — and maybe, just maybe, I will find a few pennies (not dollars) to put away for my future retirement. Gosh, I sure am grateful for these little things in life. By the way, Governor, are you still using the state-owned helicopter to travel to your son's baseball games? How about the $8,000 salary increase you received, is it enough? If not, I suggest you "ask" for another "volunteer" tax increase. We, the taxpayers, would be horrified if your standard of living is equal to only that of a "Baron" or "Duke" and not that of "royal Kingship." About state spending — Do you think that our elected state representatives have enough of the taxpayers money to cover all "PERK" and future "junkets?" Perhaps their recent salary increase of $2,200 was not enough. I am sorry that it cannot be more. I am not in a position to give more ... property taxes had to be paid, I have had to restrict travel in my 5-year-old car, I have had to make sure that my food budget does not exceed $50 per week, my utilities must be paid, my insurance must be paid and, SHAME ON ME, I am trying to put away a little money for a new suit and perhaps a new pair of shoes. You're allowing me to sacrifice my income to save the state does not allow me to enjoy any recreation of any sort, so not to worry Governor, I will not jump the fence and spend a buck or two of the "state's money." I will remember that I must resist temptation and remember that you and the state come first. Also, please assure Mrs. Griffith that I will watch my expenditures for soap, underwear and the like so as to maintain a minimum sleazy appearance and conduct. Assure her, that I will strive ever so diligently to set aside my malcontent attitude and live within the concepts of her version of the appropriate taxpayer. And — assure her that I will remember all of these things come election time. Am I not going to be a good citizen? Governor, I have a flaw, in that I keep having a "dream" like that of Martin Luther King. "I have a dream" — that — you will cut state spending by 38.5% — you will "bite the bullet" and not the taxpayer — all political salaries, expenses, perks, travel junkets, use of state-owned vehicles, gasoline and other non-essential expenditures will be cut at least 50% — the state will operate with-in taxable income levels from year to year — the functions of government will be "Of the people, By the people and For the people" and not exploited by elected politicians — the Recall Statute provided in the State Constitution will not be tampered with or changed in any way — All elected political representatives be responsible to their constituents for their actions and keep promises made to their constituents — amen. Is this not a wonderful dream? Would this not be a nice way to live? Just think, I could perhaps keep most of what I earned ... buy a new car ... buy some new clothes ... take the wife out to dinner once in a while ... have a vacation ... put a little money in the bank for a "rainy day" and/or for retirement ... Damn, I wish all this could come to pass! How about you, Governor?

To defend one's rights

EDITOR — It was Jean Francois Marie Arouet who is credited with saying that he would defend with his life the right of a person to express his feelings. This is in response to Managing Editor Tom Mooradian's column: "Questions in Black and White."

Doesn't the editor have tender toes? There's an old saying: "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen." If Mr. Mooradian believes that the majority of people in this country are in favor of a holiday, then I'm afraid he is also stuck with Santa Claus and the Tooth Fairy.

In 35 years, we will know the real truth of what has been hushed up for political purposes. It bears looking into.

People who are in need

EDITOR — Detroit Mayor Coleman Young apparently knows how to take care of Detroit residents when it comes to finding food to help the needy.

There are a lot of needy people here in Wayne, and I'm wondering why our city council doesn't find programs for residents here? We need food too.

A road to frustration

EDITOR — Because I live in Westland and attend Bishop Borgess High School I frequently travel Warren Road.

During these travels I have discovered a strange problem — on days where there have been snow storms there is no plowing or sanding (salting isn't allowed because of the new pavement) on Warren Road west of Inkster Road for many hours, until the driving conditions become extremely hazardous.

East of Inkster (the borderline of Dearborn Heights) the road is fine, there are trucks out plowing immediately.

This has become a big problem, and it is very dangerous traveling along this road. And I feel that something must be done about it immediately. What does Dearborn Heights have that Westland and Garden City don't? Warren Road is a county road that all citizens pay taxes for, so why is one portion of this road plowed and salted immediately while another is left for hours or days — come what may.

Bird that didn't forget

EDITOR — May I share this story with your readers? It is, indeed, a strange one and some may not believe it.

It is also a story of those traditional enemies — cats and birds.

It goes something like this: I was returning home from shopping one late day last summer. A cat had climbed a small tree and invaded a nest. He managed to devour two of the baby birds but one managed to fall and escape its clutches, only after losing a leg to the bird.

I took care of the injured bird, feeding it food and water until one day it was strong enough to fly.

The bird, with one of its legs gone, took off and I never saw it again until last Christmas morning when I looked out and there it was in front of the window, waiting for a handout.

To me, I feel it's like some sort of miracle.

Goodfellows say
'thank you'

EDITOR — The Inkster Goodfellows would like to express their thanks and appreciation for the fine effort by all segments of the City of Inkster in raising the necessary funds to assure that "No Child is Without a Christmas."

Frankly, we must tell you that the Goodfellows were teetering on the brink of despair because of the large number of applications that we received and the lack of funds.

There was no way we could fill them. Once again the Lord touched residents and there was a generous out-pouring of money, food, toys and clothing.

As a result the Goodfellows were able to assist a record number of 338 families with over 1200 children. Looking back during our drive a few things stand out in my mind.

Betty Miller, our newly-elected Mayor, seventy-two year old mother Pulido along with her daughter Eleanor selling newspapers, the $4 we received from the 3rd-grade children from the Thorne School. The kids from Cherry Hill High who have contributed unselfishly over the years. God bless them all. We could go on and on. There are just a few of the many churches, schools, clubs, sororities, etc. that pitched in to help. We would like to thank a tireless committee of dedicated people. People who gave their time and money to a project that has been a part of them. Good bless you. As we are writing this "thank you" letter we are sure the youngsters enjoyed the things they received from us. However, we would be much happier if we knew they have also received the "everlasting gift" from the "Good Fellow." In closing may each and everyone of you "have enough faith to banish depression and enough determination to make each day better than yesterday."

Children are actors

When the skin begins to sag and life has criss-crossed its trails on the face, and one struggles with the fear of the unknown tomorrows, and the wells of joy are pretty used up, kids can fill those wells and wipe away the fears in a flash, and make you laugh.

I know because I saw it happen.

It has been a bitterly cold day and neither car would start and my husband had spent most of the morning with his jump-cable while he trudged through the snow and pulled his bright red knit cap down over his ears while he mumbled, "3,000 miles away where there is nothing but sunshine. 3,000 miles away in a one room apartment with nothing but sunshine and my golf clubs."

Naturally I could have let that hurt me, but then I had to learn a long time ago if he had to make a choice between sunshine and golf clubs and me, the former would win out, with no effort. Of course, he says that isn't true, but a woman knows. A woman knows when she has a rival, and I guess if it comes right down to it, I am glad that my rival is made of steel and is an inanimate object, rather than a soft pliable one. You just can't fight those soft ones.

Well, to get back to how kids can make you laugh.

After the cars were started and my husband had taken his shower, I found him standing before the mirror, leaning forward and staring at his wrinkles.

"There's sure getting to be a lot of these things," he said, and I reached for my 'Visible Difference' the cream which is reported to fill out those wrinkles in thirty days or less, and I gave it to him, and I suggested he use it.

"Do you use it?" he asked. "I sure do," I answered with confidence.

"Then how come it hasn't filled out your wrinkles?" he asked, reasonable enough, I suppose.

Of course I couldn't answer that, although during the rest of the day I thought of lots of good answers, but it was too late them. So I took the cream away from him and slathered it on my face and then I felt kind of sad as I watched him pull the skin up tight and stare at himself as he once looked.

The blue funk settled down over him for the rest of the day, and since I have had days like that I knew how he was feeling. It's tough to face up to those wrinkles.

Finally I said, "But you don't have a big fat stomach," and he answered, "Hmph," which meant that he wasn't worried about his stomach.

That evening we went to see the play "Vanities" in which our youngest is appearing.

Vanities is being presented by the Garden City Civic Theater Group at the O'Leary Auditorium on Middlebelt in Garden City, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday... January 26, 27, 28. Our grandson, Mike went with us.

After the show we went backstage, and one of the women back there looked at Mike and then looked up at Mike's grandfather, and said, "You look exactly alike. The same blue eyes, the same shape face and the same shape head." Mike looked up at his grandfather and grinned, and his grandfather looked down at Mike and grinned.

Mike was starved and so was his grandfather, so on the way home we stopped at Big Boy's. The cute, dark-haired waitress stood waiting for the order to be given, and then she said, "Oh my gosh, do you look exactly alike." Mike grinned and his grandfather grinned. "You have the same blue eyes, the same shape face ..." "And the same shape head," Mike finished for her.

"Yeah, you do," she answered. "You look exactly alike."

Mike looked over at his grandfather and a big grin wrapped around his face.

"I guess you're better looking, Grandpa," he said.

to get myself a pocket-sized notebook (There's one around here somewhere). This will be my "master list." No more little bits of paper with things I'm supposed to remember on them. With this magic notebook, I'm going to keep track of all errands, things to do or buy, and just generally anything going to require some action. Okay.

Now I have to list six elements in my life that need to be put in order (only six?). And if I'm having trouble isolating those problem areas, I'm supposed to take a deep breath, relax, close my eyes and mentally run through a typical day, saying to myself, "I get up, I brush my teeth ..."

And if I mentally tense up at the thought of brushing my teeth, for example, it could be because I'm always running out of toothpaste ...

Yes ... well, I think what I'm going to do is file this book on a shelf somewhere, making a mental note (until I can locate that pocket-sized notebook) not to try to find it ever again.

Or better yet, I could just toss it out, which is what the lady suggests for things you know you're never going to use.

Art of being organized

All right — today's the day. I'm going to do it. No fooling around this time. No beating around the bush. No sitting down to think about this with another cup of coffee.

Today's the day I'm going to get organized: I've been thinking about this for quite a few days now. Actually, if I still made New Year's resolutions, "getting organized" would be right up there at the top of the list. But since I no longer make resolutions, it took until now to get really serious about this.

And if I wasn't entirely serious at the start of this day, the seriousness of the situation (which is totally out of hand) impressed itself upon me irrevocable when the very vehicle that was going to help lead me out of this mess couldn't be found.

I spent an hour of my precious organizing time looking for a book called "Getting Organized" by Stephanie Winston. I bought it a few years ago, skimmed it, decided there were some terrific ideas in there, and stuck it in a safe place on a bookshelf until I could find the time to really, really read it.

It should have been on the shelf with "Side-tracked Home Executives" and "How to get the Upper Hand." It wasn't. When I finally found it — and I wasn't going to give up until I did — it was lodged between

"Zelda" and "Byline: Ernest Hemingway."

It had no business being there — that was the "biographies" section — but considering the state of the room in which those shelves are located, in retrospect it seems markedly appropriate that "Getting Organized" wasn't where it should have been.

And it was a good thing I found it, because if I hadn't, I never would have been privy to the very first words on the very first page: "How organized are you? Does it often take you more than ten minutes to unearth a particular letter, bill, report of other paper from your files (or piles of paper on your desk)?"

And if I wasn't ashamed enough, she goes on — painfully and relentlessly: "Are there papers on your desk, other than reference materials, that you haven't looked through for a week or more?" On first glance, I was proud of myself. Everything that was piled on my desk had been looked through within the last week. Then I took a quick glance through the little bits of paper impaled on my spindle. In about the middle, I found a coupon for a Wendy's single burger for 25 cents. I'd forgotten I'd even had that. This getting organized might just pay off. I like Wendy's single burgers, too. Oh, but wait a minute — "Offer expires December 24, 1982."

So then she says, "Within the last two months, have you forgotten any scheduled appointment, anniversary, or specific date you wanted to acknowledge? Has anything ever been misplaced in your home or office for longer than two months? Do things amass in corners of closets, or on the floor, because you can't decide where to put them? Do magazines and newspapers pile up unread? Is your definition of 'organized space' to fit as many objects as you can into a limited area?"

Is this woman looking over my shoulder, or what? Is this place bugged? Has she no mercy? Do I have to answer all those questions or can I just say "Never mind" and go on to the good stuff.

But the good stuff, the "nuts and bolts" stuff about how to make order out of chaos, has to wait. First she has to tell me how I got this way in the first place: "The majority of people who are consistently troubled by the issue of order and disorder and by the logistics of managing their lives, are still, as adults, often living out guilty defiance of childhood authority — usually a parent."

I may (or may not) ponder that when I've got some time, but right now my goal is to deliver myself from this mess. I don't care why it happened, I want to know how to fix it.

Westland triplets provide auto show gimmick

It's nothing like working on the assembly line of GM's Pontiac Motor Division ...just ask any autoworker... but when it comes to putting the body panels on the Pontiac Fiero, Colette, Andree and Margo Chippi turned some heads at the Detroit Auto Show.

The identical triplets put the Fiero body panels on a driveable chassis in a choreographed performance nine times a day during the Auto Show.

The performance centers on the innovative design and manufacturing technology of the country's first production two-seat, mid-engine sports car and with the addition of the Chippi sisters is a 'showstopper,' according to James Graham, Pontiac's director of production and communications.

"The excitement of Fiero's innovative design and this totally unique way of presenting it — three charming young ladies putting the car together — has got to be the number one attraction at any auto show," he said. "We're very excited about it."

The 20-year-old triplets have taken a leave from their pursuit of careers in sports medicine to pursue fame and fortune in the field of modeling. It has taken awhile, but the past few months have made it all worthwhile.

Last June, according to Tana Lee Casey, president of T.L. Casey Unlimited Inc., the triplets were hired by Pontiac to do film and print — photographs for catalogues and short film clips shown in auto dealerships. Then they landed the auto show job, which will keep them busy until the spring on the auto show circuit.

They've had no formal modeling training, but have a lot of energy and move well, according to Casey.

"Their mother brought them in two years ago and registered them with my agency," Casey explained. "When we heard Pontiac needed three people, I took them over for an interview. When they saw them, they said they were perfect for what they had planned."

The sisters consider themselves physical fitness fanatics. To keep in shape while performing at auto shows, the three will work out at health clubs across the country.

"When I think of that car, and I think of my sisters, we're a lot like that car," admitted Andree. "It's sleek, powerful, elegant; it does build excitement."

"Working with Pontiac is going to be the experience of our lifetime," added Margo. "It gives us so much excitement."

"We're going to be up there with the new car. I feel the audience is going to click on to it right away. We're going to spark excitement."

The blue-eyed brunettes are 5 feet, 6 inches tall and, according to Casey, "they look like they could put a car together."

Showing off their special assembly line style at the recent Detroit Auto Show are Margo, Andree and Colette Chippi of Westland.

the letter writer . . . by ginny eades

IF YOU CAN'T TALK TO YOUR HUSBAND, MAYBE YOU SHOULD WRITE TO HIM!

Dear Letter Writer:

I've been married six years. My husband and I both have children from our first marriages. Three years ago, my husband found himself out of work and moved to Texas. I just joined him from Michigan in 1983.

We were apart for two years and he has changed so much I can't talk to him anymore. I try to write things down that I want to say, but end up throwing the paper away because it sounds silly. Please help.

Sincerely, Wife

Dear Husband:

It has taken me forever to write this letter. Every time I started to write, I stopped because I couldn't seem to express myself.

I want you to know how I feel and how much I love you. I don't want to hurt you because I love you. I want everything to work out well between us.

It is hard to get my feelings across to you. I have a lot of feelings — hurt, disappointment, frustration and even some resentment. I spend a lot of time being hurt and confused and wondering what is wrong. I have agonized over this letter because I want to make sure what I write so that you understand exactly how I am feeling.

I guess my first problem is intense loneliness. I know you can't help this. I understand that your job takes you away from us and that you are going to school. I know you are doing these things to improve yourself and ultimately help us. It seems as though I am flip-flopping between two positions. When you are gone, I am totally in charge; I make all the decisions. When you come home, I feel very insecure and inadequate. You don't seem to approve of anything that I do.

With regard to money, I feel very guilty spending anything. I know that you don't want me to feel this way, but I do. I know that you want to provide for us financially. I even feel guilty when I buy groceries. I have this feeling gnawing away at me that you don't want me here anymore. I feel that maybe you liked it better when I was still in Michigan.

I have some deep hurts and frustrations about my daughter. I love her, just like you love your children. I feel like I have to pick and choose between you and my daughter and it is humanly impossible for me to do this. There is just simply no way.

I love you both very deeply — both different kinds of love. It is destroying me and eating me up. I am willing to do anything to keep us all together. I don't want my family torn apart. I really need to know how you feel.

Dealing with children is a problem that most second marriages have. Although it is really tough, I know, if we tried, we could find solutions and blend everything together. I believe that your son has hurt you so badly that you don't want to get close to my daughter. I don't want us to have competition between our children. I think we should stop comparing the kids and just work together with them.

When I came to Texas, I gave up everything that was really secure to me. You gave me a lot of freedom and said it would have to be my choice to come or not. If I wanted to come, I could; if I didn't, you would understand. I went through a lot of guilt, self-searching and many other emotions.

When I finally made the decision, it was a major undertaking. I had to sell the house and do all the work myself. I loved you and I wanted to be with you. I feel as though you are creating uncomfortable situations and then you are dumping everything in my lap and I have to make choices that affect so many peoples' lives.

I feel so confused and alone. If you told me to take my daughter and go back to Michigan, I would be terribly hurt, but at least I would know where I stand and how you feel about me and our marriage. It is much easier to deal with a problem when you know exactly what you are up against.

I feel like I have to make a decision without enough information from you. I really sincerely need your help. I don't want to get in your way, but I don't want to leave you either. Please tell me what you want.

I feel hurt, abused, confused, alone and unloved. I want to sit down and talk with you and iron out these difficulties and make our life together what I know it can be. I just ask, with all my heart, that you be as honest as possible with me.

If there is something going on in your life that is making you unhappy, please tell me. I just need more information. Please tell me the truth about how you feel. Guessing is driving me nuts. Please try to hear what I am writing. You are a truly wonderful man, but I am unhappy. Could we please talk?

Love, your wife

RESOLUTION: The wife used the letter to open the door to communicating with her husband.

Everything isn't perfect, but at least they are talking.

Your responses to my column are appreciated. Please continue to write to me at 41711 Joy Road, Canton, MI 48187 or call me at 455-8892.

'Elephant Man' opens Friday in Westland

Dave Rago of Canton will portray the character John Merrick in the Spotlight Players' production of "Elephant Man," scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday as well as Feb. 3 and 4 at the John Glenn High School Auditorium, 36105 Marquette, Westland. Written by American playwright Bernard Pomerance, "Elephant Man" centers on the life of Merrick, a young man afflicted with neurofibromatosis which has left him hideously disfigured. Despite his deformities, Merrick displays a strong respect and love for life. A number of Westland residents are featured in the cast, including Joseph Haynes, Lorraine Parent, Tobin Hissong, Pam Fisher, Toni Skatikat, Helen DiJulio and Jeff Moss. John Eastman and Gail Mack will direct the performance.

which is set during the 1880's in England. Mary Cobello of Westland is the show's producer while Mary Jo Cobello will serve as assistant director and stage manager. Among the technical staff members are: Debra Polich Swain and Jackie Guernsey of Wayne, costumes; Michael Sawin, Wayne, lights; Jesse James, Wayne, sound; Jeff James, Wayne and Bob Walker, Westland, set construction; Mike Swain, Wayne and Maggie Applegate, Westland, painting; Diane and Ben Kemp, Belleville, special effects, and makeup, Mark Renfrow, Westland. Tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $3 for students under 18 years of age and senior citizens. Further information can be obtained by calling 595-6117 or 522-2326.

Cedar Point sets auditions

Auditions for singers, dancers, musicians and specialty acts will be conducted by representatives of Cedar Point this Friday afternoon in the Anderson Room of the Michigan Union on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age as of May, 1984 and should bring a single-page, typed resume to the session, which begins at 1 p.m. Registration will be conducted from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. and auditions will be liimited to two minutes for individuals and three minutes for groups. Singers and musicians are requested to prepare two compositions of contrasting styles. Alumni of Cedar Point's live shows have performed on Broadway and on several television shows. Further information may be obtained by contacting the amusement park's attractions' division at 419-627-2388.

Glenn is in command of Northwest
Rockets shoot down previously undefeated Thurston

Final exams are on the schedule this week for the 2000-plus students at John Glenn High School.

But for the 13 members of the Rockets' basketball squad, their test came Friday night against previously undefeated and state-ranked Redford Thurston.

The Rockets passed the test with flying colors as they pulled off an emotional 53-49 upset victory over the Eagles. As a result of that victory, Glenn propelled itself to the top of the Northwest Suburban League standings with a perfect 4-0 record. Glenn's overall record jumped to 6-3.

Gary Fraylick, in his fifth year as Thurston's head coach, brought his team to Glenn with a perfect 8-0 mark and a number seven ranking in State Class B. He also had history behind him having coached six straight wins over the Rockets.

He knew what his team was up against.

"Glenn makes us play as hard as we can and forced us to play to our capabilities. Coming in, I thought they matched up real well with us," Fraylick said.

Fraylick also should have checked with Plymouth Salem's Fred Thomamm if he wanted to know what Glenn has done in the past to state-ranked teams who have entered their gym.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the scorer's table, Rocket head coach Gordie Davis knew, "it was important to beat them at home" if his charges "were going to make a serious run at the title this season."

Glenn had just come off an emotional victory the previous Friday against Garden City and were trying to make it two in a row over their two biggest rivals.

Davis, like his coaching rival Fraylick, "felt good going in," and the game itself was a classic affair.

Both teams came out in the opening period and played very methodical basketball. Glenn used senior guard Jeff Hawley's 6 points to ignite its offense, but it was Thurston's Scott Filipiak (5-8, Jr.) who got the oohs and aahs of the crowd. Filipiak's dead-eye shooting (6 points) helped the Eagles take a 14-12 first quarter lead.

"He is as good a shooter as I've seen this year," said Davis after watching Filipiak's shooting exhibition in that first period. "He was one player we couldn't let out of control."

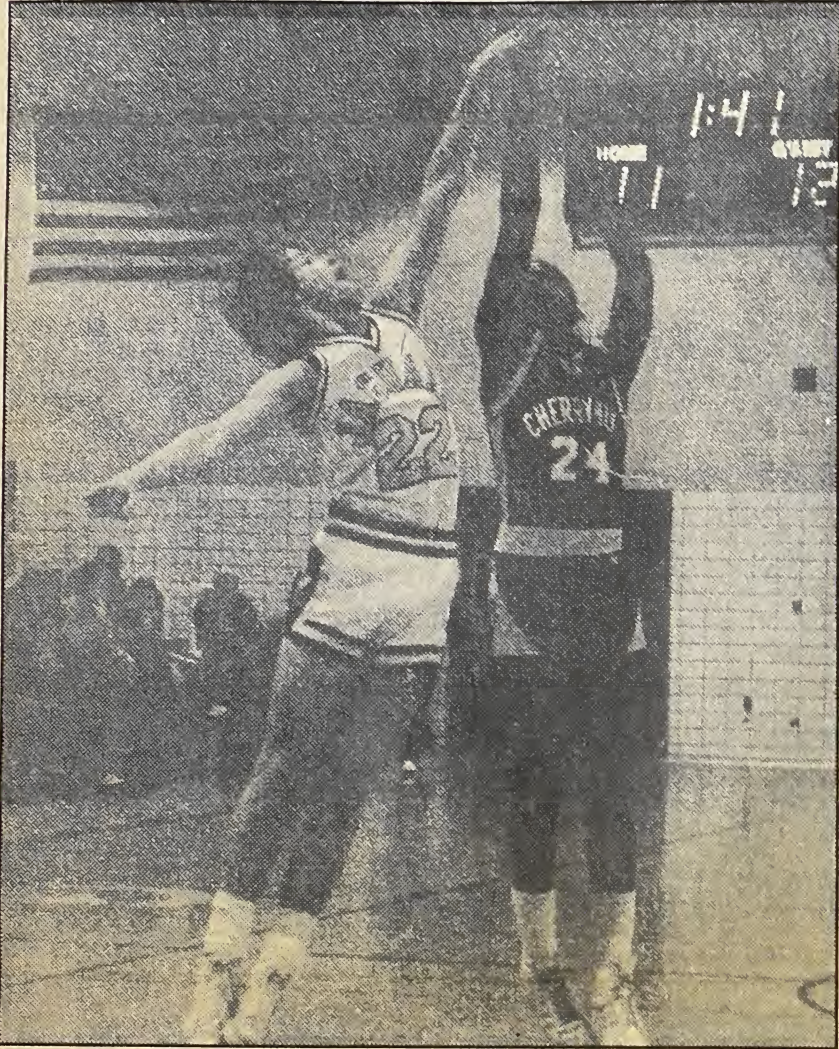

But Glenn, who has started out slowly in each game this season only to get stronger as the game progresses, continued the same pattern in the second quarter of this game.

Dave Long and Craig Thornton keyed the uprising with four buckets between them. Long's rebound basket early in the quarter started the Rockets off on the right foot. Baydarian hit 4 points himself, including one at the 3:47 mark that gave his team a 24-21 lead.

But, like all games that help determine championships, Thurston refused to fold Eagles' center Dan Starinsky (6-7, Sr.) scored 8 of his 16 games points in the quarter that helped the Eagles close the gap to 28-25 at halftime.

(See ROCKETS Page B-5)

Romulus wins '2' easy ones

If the rest of the season goes as well for Coach Al Wilkerson and the Romulus Eagles as it did against Ann Arbor Pioneer and Taylor Truman, then Romulus need not worry.

But Wilkerson knows better. Romulus has two 'toughies' waiting for them next week.

The Eagles buried Pioneer 74-54 with most of the reserves playing the second half after Romulus destroyed Taylor Truman on Tuesday, 64-38. The two victories lifted the Eagles' over-all record to 8-2 and their Metro-West Conference mark to 2-1 on the season.

"We have Howell (8-2) and Willow Run coming up," Wilkerson warned, "and they are tough. We've had it pretty easy for the past couple of weeks, but I don't expect it to be that way this coming week."

With Terry Mills drilling in eight of his 16 in the second period, Romulus broke open a 13-9 first period game to rattle Taylor Truman. Truman trailed 38-19 at halftime and never fully recovered after the initial half.

Terry Roache scored a season high 20 points and Grant Long added 17 in the rout.

Despite the lopsided victory, Wilkerson was not satisfied with his team's over-all performance.

"We were sloppy," Wilkerson said, "and we didn't settle down until the second quarter when we hit 12 of 18 shots from the floor."

Grant triggered the uprising as he hauled in 16 rebounds, 11 of those from the offensive board, and scored 14 of his 17 points in the first half.

It also took Romulus nearly a period to warm up for the Pioneers who made it close (17-13) after the initial eight minutes. The Eagles, thanks to Long's eight points, again broke it open in the second frame, outscoring their non-conference rivals 23-11 in that period.

With Roache sidelined with excessive fouls, it was up to Steve Glenn and Shawn Perkins to take up the role as playmaker. They put Long and Mills to work and before it was all over Long had 22 points and Mills accounted for 17.

Glenn finished with 13 and Perkins added nine.

Belleville cagers can't snap out of 'quarter' blues

There always appears to be at least one quarter that ruins it for Coach Leon Birdyshaw and the Belleville cagers.

"We just can't seem to put four quarters together," said Birdyshaw after the Tigers dropped a 76-50 decision to Dearborn Fordson on Tuesday and lost a 66-60 decision to Trenton.

Belleville has Friday night off to contemplate how to resolve the problem.

Belleville wasted a season high 32-points scoring effort from Keith Vawters in its loss to Trenton, a team that also was searching for its first victory. And it was the second period in this case that spelled doom for the Tigers.

After working its way to a 19-18 lead, Belleville fell behind 37-27 at the half. The Tigers trailed by 13 at the end of three (50-13) and, at one point early in the fourth period fell behind by as much as 22 before Vawters opened up with a barrage of baskets.

Working the base line to his advantage and scoring on a couple of medium range shots, Vawters pumped in 16 of his 32 points in the last period to bring the Tigers within four points of erasing the deficit.

However, that's the closest the local cagers got.

"He (Vawters) just put on a one man show," said Coach Birdyshaw, "and, for a moment there I thought we were going to pull it out. I guess it just wasn't in the books."

Vawter's 32 points topped all scorers. Also in double figures for the losers was Chris Grantham who counted 10. Trenton received 18 points from Robert Shenton.

John McIntyre's Tractors at Fordson rolled past Belleville as they jumped to a 21-6 first period advantage and never behind although the Tigers outscored their visitors in the middle two periods.

"We never really made up the deficit," moaned Birdyshaw. "We came close in the final period again but we lost our leading rebounder Philip Boyd to personal fouls."

Duel under the boards

Although Cherry Hill's Tony Ellis(24) manages to thwart an Allen Park defender to put up this two-pointer, Ellis and the Spartans continue to have third quarter jinx as the Jaguars sank 16 unanswered points to erase a 33-30 deficit and went on to win 60-49. The loss dropped Coach Don Waxer's Spartans three-games off the pace set by Allen Park which is undefeated in the Tri-River Conference this season.

Wayne tankers nip Belleville

Powered by Steve Soules' three victories and a record-setting performance by John Sharnestsky, Wayne Memorial won its fourth consecutive Wolverine "A" dual meet at the expense of rival, Belleville.

It was the first time these two area rivals met in the pool as league opponents.

Soules captured the 50-yard freestyle (23.5) and the 100-yard butterfly (57.4) as well as taking part in the victory in the 200-yard medley relay. Soules' efforts helped coach Jim McPartlin's tankers turn back Belleville 99-73.

Sharnestsky won the 100-yard backstroke in 1:02.3, establishing a sophomore record in the event.

Wayne divers also surprised their Belleville counterparts by placing 1-2 in the event behind Matt McCutcheon and Dave Williamson who had 196.6 and 180.7 points, respectively.

"It was a good team effort," said Coach McPartlin whose team will meet Trenton on Thursday in the Trojan waters. "It was a victory that the kids were emotionally ready for."

Romulus grapplers impress Northwest champ, Glenn

Coming off an impressive victory at their own invitational, Romulus wrestlers stopped a highly-respected Westland John Glenn club, 37-30 to post their first victory over the Rockets in recent years.

"It was an excellent victory over an outstanding team," said Romulus' Wayne Schimming. "I'm proud of these kids."

The loss dropped Glenn's overall record to 8-3 on the season.

while the defending Northwest Suburban Conference champs remain undefeated (2-0) in their league.

Looking good on mats

Rockets shoot down Thurston

Glenn's defense was the key to the second period. Except for Starinsky's 8 points, nobody else on Thurston's squad scored more than two points.

Fraylick knew his team had to "learn to play more intense" in the second half if they wanted to keep their unbeaten streak alive.

But Davis and the Rockets had other plans, like changing from a zone press to a man-to-man press that unnerved the Eagles in the second half.

However, like those well-laid plans of mice and men, Glenn's strategy went astray for a while as Thurston made a run for the lead. They were successful twice, first at the 5:31 mark when Filipiak's two free throws gave them a 31-30 lead, and then at the 4:10 mark when Brian McGrath's (5-10, Sr.) bucket game them a 37-34 lead.

But the Rockets went to a press which, according to Davis, "seemed to rattle the Thurston squad."

Not to mention the lights went out on the Eagles, also. The defensive change opened up the game for the Rockets as they outscored the Eagles, 8-2, the remainder of the period.

Baydarian, praised by Fraylick for his "outstanding job all night," controlled the tempo of the game for the Rockets. But Fraylick wasn't surprised by what the 5-11 junior guard had done to his team in that third quarter.

"He's done it to everybody."

Baydarian did it to the Eagles in the third period with four free throws — two with 3:15 left to give the Rockets a 38-37 lead and two more with 1:17 left in the period. Rockets' center Marius Grazulis got free for six points in the period, including a pair of clutch free throws with 1:29 left. The third period ended with Glenn on top, 42-39.

The Rockets widened their lead to 48-40 with 5:10 left in the final period. Now it was time for a new strategy: the delay.

Like everything else lately for the Rockets, "the delay game is getting better," said Davis. With Baydarian, Hawley, and Long handling the ball, the Rockets pulled it out and ran circles around the Eagles.

Thurston did make one final run at the Rockets, however, closing the gap to 49-45 on a pair of free throws by Filipiak, the last of his game-high 18 points.

But Glenn went to the delay almost exclusively the last three minutes and got free throws from Thornton at the :37 mark and one from Long with :14 left to ice the game.

Glenn takes on tough Livonia Churchill at home on Tuesday and then travels to North Farmington for a league contest on Friday.

Over 30 hockey

Getting back into shape after the holidays, 10 teams in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey Leagues resumed action last week. And Jake's Lounge continues to command the respect of the Berrington Division representatives, while the Bonkowski Division clubs will try to catch frontrunner, Johnson's Bakery.

Tastee Freez began the New Year with an 8-3 victory over Family Heating. Mike Villeneuve and Arnie Cox tallied for two goals apiece; Ken Carter scored once and picked up two assists; Conrad Madaleno rattled the net for a goal and an assist.

Terry Johnson and Jim McMaster rounded out the Freezer's scoring with a goal apiece.

Chuck Jennett, Keith Middaugh and Glenn Stevenson received three assists; Roger Lemkie picked up two assists while Ralph Tack finished with one assist.

Ron Wojewski and Don Strauss tallied once for Family Heating along with one assist. Sponsor George Klempert accounted for the remaining point.

Brock Builders handed Jake's Lounge a 9-1 setback as John Davis led Brock's in scoring with a hat trick. Tom DiLaura and Layne Cardinal tallied twice with DiLaura also picking up an assist. Rick Wolkowicz scored one goal and received four assists while John Colligan found the net once and picked up two assists.

Dennis LaPensee and Mike Adamson finished the game with two assists while John Clearwood and Ron Jacobs picked up one assist.

Jake's lone goal was scored late in the second period by Dave Zajac assisted by Paul Kos.

Goalie Gene Machniak secured a 5-0 shutout as Futurama blained All Sorts Sports. Claud Johnston and Chuck Quint tallied for a goal apiece and picked up an assist. Jerry Bular, Dave Zielinski and Gene Taurainen each added a goal apiece. Ron Tyranski picked up two assists while Bill Brown, Ron Swider and Jerry Tapp received one assist.

Johnson's Carbonic pulled off a 4-3 win over Mic-Dago Pub as Ed Harmon scored late in the final period. Tom Mazorowicz tallied for a goal and received two assists while Daryl Nowacki and Larry Monticello added single tallies. Jim Drewry picked up two assists as Ron Blazkowski, Ron Johnson and Perry Toepfer received one assist.

Mic-Dago's Roger Wodgenske and Jim Creekmore tallied for a goal and an assist as Dave Jones accounted for a single tally. Dave Beebe and Tom Bryans picked up one assist.

Johnson's Bakery handed Little Bill's Trophies an 8-1 loss as Dale Fawkes rattled the net three times and received one assist. Dave Frankling scored once and picked up four assists; Al Pulk tallied for a goal and two assists; Errol Pulk and Ken Klinck scored once and finished with one assist.

Chuck Heebsh accounted for Johnson's final goal. Otto Mason received two assists, while Phil Cerne and Ken Howe finished with one assist.

Little Bill's Trophies ruined Jeff Faigle's attempt for a shut-out as Norm Beasley scored late in the game with Larry Kaifesh and George Murphy assisting.

Michigan National's monthly compounded interest earned

Michigan National compounds interest monthly to pay you more money for your money

Higher stated interest rates on Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) may sound good initially. But, if you're interested in earning more money for your money, consider the effects of Michigan National's monthly compounding of interest versus other banks' simple interest method of payment.

Earn interest on your interest

A minimum deposit of only $50 at Michigan National earns interest each month. So, month by month, year after year you continually earn interest on your interest.

Most other banks, however, pay interest on a simple basis.

No compounding.

No payment of interest on your interest.

That's why other banks can quote a higher rate, and yet, pay less interest over the lifetime of your investment.

Don't be fooled by high interest IRA claims.

Invest your retirement savings with Michigan National where your IRA will earn more money for your money with monthly compounding.

Need a loan to fund your IRA?

Borrow up to your annual IRA contribution limit at preferred rates to take advantage of 1983 or 1984 tax deductions. Then write off interest payments for an additional tax savings. Ask for details on the advantages of an IRA loan at any branch office.

Michigan National Corporation Banks

Substantial penalties and tax liabilities imposed for withdrawal from IRA prior to age 59½, except in cases of death or disability. Withdrawals must begin by age 70½. Member F.D.I.C.

world of wheels

... by denny campbell

I couldn't believe what I'd heard about ABC Auto on Michigan Avenue — a hand wash job? But it's true. I checked it out myself. If you're a car buff, you'll want to jot down this address — 35812 West Michigan Ave., next to the Chamber of Commerce in Wayne.

Fast, clean and efficient, this is a professional operation for people who care about their cars. Louis and John Lucka have operated car care and wash centers in the Metro area for 40 years — it's that kind of experience that counts. And they know the value of clean water, clean wash cloths and soft, dry towels! From 9 until 5, seven days a week — they'll even wax your car if you like.

Honestly, a hand wash job. Tell Perry that Wheel World sent you!

A quick look at this week's column tells you we've finally gotten the pictures together that cover some of the things discussed over the last couple weeks! So sorry!! Updates are as follow:

Please, please, no more calls! Phil Elliott at World of Ruttman has sold the '73 Chaparral I used to own — but he does have triple cylinder liquid-cooled Polaris available that ought to blow down a few trees! Phil is a fellow Street Rodder so if you're 'of the bond' be sure and mention it when you're out there.

Jim Ward at A.R.A. on Ford Road says to remind people that the TRAVEL CRUISE is a universal application and about half the cost of O.E.M. stuff.

Tim Ray at General Cycle has the Limited Edition Yamaha Phazer (the beast pictured) in black, which is the color I like best.

Waiting list for Pontiac Fiero's grows and grows, so be very patient if you lust for one. Red Holman and Bob Jeanotte are your best bets in the area.

We failed to mention that Don Massey threw open his showroom several weeks ago to an auction to benefit the Plymouth Community Arts Council. So, in addition to softball, hockey and other sports, Don also aids the cultural crew — if it can help someone, Don Massey does it!! Don's extra time, what little there is, is spent planning his new sales training school he will open early this summer. Now, if the number of Don Massey tags I see on Cadillacs in the 3-county area is any criteria, this school is one we all should attend! Thanks, Don — for just being here!

Thank you all for your letters supporting our Street Machine Day idea... but still no volunteer to head it up! C'mon, somebody out there can donate one day a week to spiff this idea! We'll even donate some sort of door prize!

Must all my dreams be bashed against rocks?? Bob Seger, local rocker and all round nice guy, just sold off his 930 Porsche Turbo and his 308 Ferrari for... are you ready... a five passenger Mercedes coupe!! With automatic!! I can't lust for that! Maybe it's just a phase... Bob used to sneak into Pine Knob to play his own concerts by riding his Honda right down the main drive — with a full helmet on nobody knew it was him! Hey, with this "Doctor's" Mercedes, he could do the same deal!

And, in the sport car department, keep your eyes on Tri-County Auto Brokers this spring — they have a pleasant surprise coming — Ford Rd., just east of Venoy!

My "fav" Chevrolet, a black Eurosport Sedan, is on the road with none other than Mr. Chevrolet, Gordon Stewart, at the wheel. Honest injun, this car is more European than the above mentioned Mercedes! Gordon says he has a ball driving it 'cause of the suspension and responsive steering — and it looks good, too! Plueessee, Gordon, just once around the block!

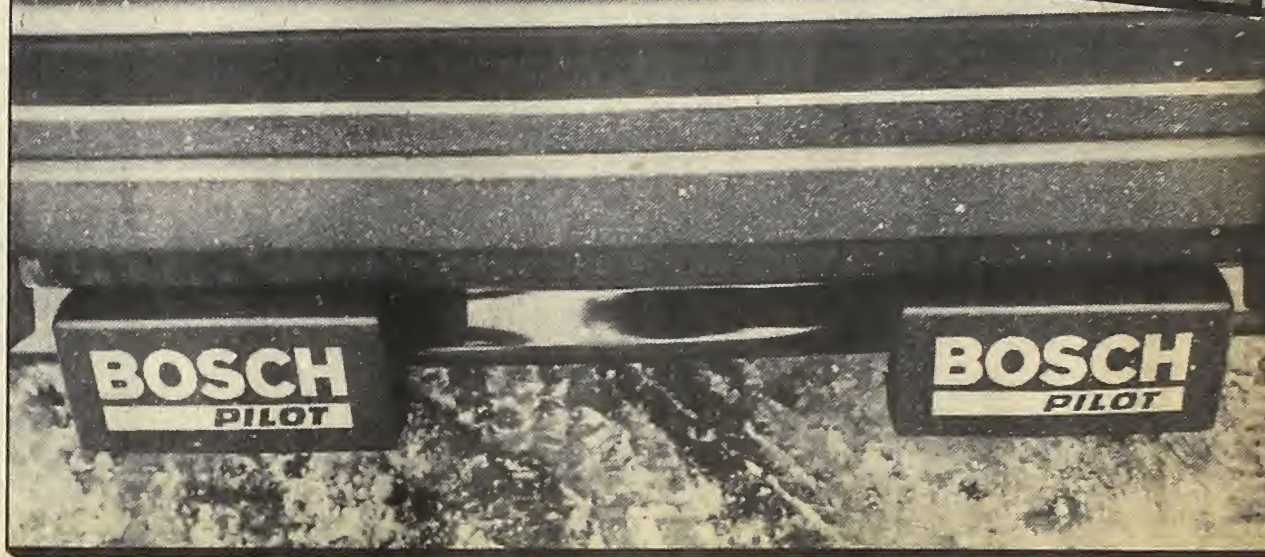

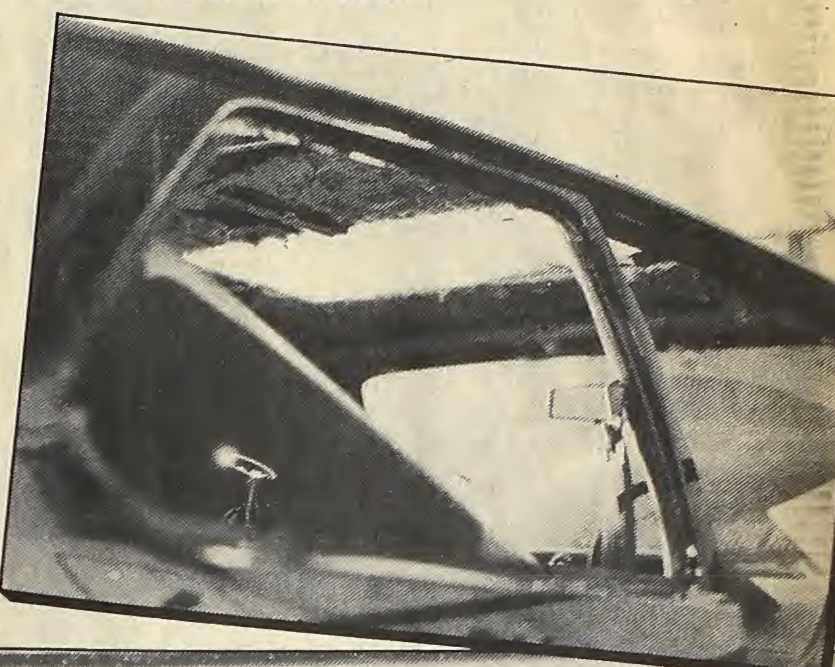

Who is that in the yellow lowered Chevy Stepside in Wayne?

Good News — Rosenau Honda has cars... come and get them while they last — do most of you remember that 4-door Accords are American built? When put to the test, even magazine writers couldn't tell the difference! So there is some saving grace to 'buckeyes' — they can really build a car! Marysville, Ohio, you know... I'll be Rid Reviewing a Honda CRX in the near future. That is, if I can pry Glenn Shelby out of his!

Ok, Ok, I'm out of space again, which is why the pictures get cut... but I'm trying to get better... Next Week... 'til then.

Before and after the A.R.A. installed sunroof on the Wheel-World test car. Expert installation completed by A.R.A. at 34043 Ford Road in Westland.

Bosch Driving Lights on the mystery vehicle — have you seen it yet? — installed at Livonia Volkswagen and Mazda.

Campbell rides again on the wild Yamaha Phazer — so great he had to have one! See them at World of Ruttman, Canton or General Cycle in Lincoln Park.
